ALLOW AND BEHOLD

By Geoffrey Hoppe

I love Allowing. I love teaching the Quantum Allowing workshop, and I love Allowing in my personal life. I've turned into an Allowing Bliss-Ninny.

The premise of Allowing is simple:

- I am a Sovereign Being of Consciousness, going through a human experience.
- My human experiences are filled with extreme limitations and challenges, as well as brilliant discoveries and insights.
- All of my human experiences are distilled into pure wisdom by my soul, without judgment or remorse.
- Enlightenment is the total integration of human and divine, as well as all aspects and the soul. No parts or pieces of my Self are left behind, or unloved.
- Integration is a natural process of the soul. The human aspect is not responsible for enlightenment; the human only needs to Allow the soul's passion.
- Now I can take a deep breath and simply Allow. The enlightenment is already here, now I can just Allow it to be realized. My soul is only asking me to be conscious (aware), without force or resistance.
- I allow All That I AM

CRIMSON CIRCLE

Ah, Allowing! So simple. So elegant. So..... mystifying. It's mystifying because it's almost too easy. I have a strange desire to work at my enlightenment because I've had to work on everything else of value in my life. I have a worthiness aspect that is addicted to working hard for accomplishment.

I feel that I need to be doing something, anything, to keep moving forward. Many years ago I meditated and I liked it, up to a point. The best part about meditation was that it gave me 30 minutes a day to myself. The worst part about it was that it gave me 30 minutes a day to myself. I had good meditation days when everything settled down, and bad meditation days when my mind and aspects chewed me to pieces no matter how much ohm-ing and breathing I did. (Recently I came across this description of meditation from Jeff Foster: "What is meditation? Being awake and alive in the precious moment." Or as Tobias told me years ago, "Meditation is not something you do; rather it is in every breath, every footstep and every thought in every day.")

Allowing is not meditation. It's not about quieting the mind or trying to find the still, small voice within. It's just Allowing me to be me.

Allowing has nothing to do with anyone else. Some Shaumbra have the mistaken notion that it's about putting up with or "allowing" other people's agendas and energy feeding (i.e. crap). I find that with my own Allowing I am actually less tolerant of other people's aggressions and manipulations. When I Allow myself to be All That I Am, I no longer allow other people to play energy games with me.

Allowing is only about me. It's not about allowing angels or spirit guides or angelic councils or even Spirit. I'm not asking the universe to do anything for me. I am simply Allowing ME.

In spite of the beauty and simplicity of Allowing, I found that it brings up one notable and sometimes petrifying issue: Trust. For me to be in a place of pure, unabashed Allowing I have to let go of all of my internal controls, compromises and defenses. I have to Allow, openly and freely; otherwise I am only fooling myself. It raises questions like, "What happens if I let go, only to be devoured by darkness?" It brings up the issue, "Do I really like me enough to allow more of me?"

There's also the issue of expectations. Allowing has no expectations, but the human certainly does. In pure Allowing, I have to release any and all expectations. That can be a challenge, because I have an inherent expectation of some sort of enlightenment if I Allow. But of course that expectation is rather human-based, and real Allowing goes much deeper than what the human can even imagine.

Allowing has become near and dear to me. When I find myself in a mental or psychic quagmire I simply take a deep breath and allow, rather than struggle with my thoughts. When I feel lost or confused I take a deep breath and Allow. When I am consciously Allowing I feel free and light. Even when I am not doing it consciously, I can feel the subtle undercurrent of Allowing at the deepest levels within. Finally, after countless lifetimes of searching, I am simply Allowing.

Allowing is not a tool or program. It's not a rescue remedy. I don't use Allowing to try to find a parking space. I don't use Allowing to try to make my bank account bigger. I don't use Allowing to heal my body or make myself smarter. I don't use Allowing to save the planet or bring back the Lemurian elders. These would be manipulations of pure Allowing. I am only Allowing myself... the Sovereign Being of Consciousness that I am. Nothing more, nothing less.

We recently filmed the Quantum Allowing™ workshop at the Crimson Circle Connection Center in Colorado. I love facilitating the Quantum Allowing experience. Adamus was in top form (because I was Allowing), the live music from Yoham was divine, and the attendees were fully tuned in. The energy in the room was palpable; it was full and golden-warm and harmonious. The workshop was one of those special occasions when Adamus' signature line, "All is well in all of creation," was more than words. It was the reality.

So before you read any further in this issue of the Shaumbra Magazine, take a deep breath and Allow. Allow you to be you.

FOSTERING TRUST

By Alain Bolea

Reprinted with permission of TRUST! Magazine, Winter 2015 issue

When teams struggle to perform, technical issues are rarely the real source of problems. In most cases, a team's poor performance stems from the lack of authentic individual engagement. Engagement is not created at will. It springs forth only when conditions of safety, clarity, trust, and responsibility can fulfill people's emotional and cognitive needs.

Safety: It is the foundation for more productive results. People must feel safe in order to speak openly among peers and in the boss's presence. Individuals will refrain from expressing their opinions if they have experienced aggressive confrontations, reprimands, and embarrassment. Instead they'll withhold information. Furthermore anxious people simply do not have full access to their problem-solving and creative abilities because they are primarily engaged in emotional and political self-preservation.

With safety, a new dynamic can develop. When individuals can speak openly, ask questions, and voice their concerns, they reveal their true selves and are seen as more genuine and trustworthy. This, in turn, encourages others to open up. As people speak authentically, they begin to see each other differently and to hold more complete conversations.

Clarity: Open conversations boost the ability to clear areas of confusion, starting with what the team really intends to accomplish. Once individuals are able to discuss the various aspects of their work together in ways that everybody understands, they can move toward a common reality. Once they're on the same page, individuals gain a better grasp of how they fit in, what is expected of them, and what their personal contribution can be.

Trust: With open and authentic conversations, and improved clarity, individuals grow increasingly confident others will not take advantage of them. They are willing to believe others will do what they promised. Individuals experience a greater sense of fairness and are more inspired to making genuine commitments.

Responsibility: When the conditions of safety, clarity and trust are met, individuals are a good deal more willing to assume responsibility. Most individuals want to do a good job and to feel a sense of accomplishment for their contributions. At this stage people creatively spark off of each other; the team displays greater innovation and an increased ability to respond positively to change.

HIGH PERFORMING TEAM

A highly engaged team is more likely to: 1) self-organize effectively; 2) deliver higher levels of quality work; 3) respond to changes in client requests; and 4) generate continuous improvements. With higher spirits, greater camaraderie, and a sense of collective ambition, people sincerely want to get the job done well.

Alain Bolea is Crimson Circle's Business Consultant. He is founder of Business Advisors Network which integrates self-awareness, mutual understanding, emotional and cognitive intelligences into business practices to create authentic conversations, increased trust and engaged action. With more than 30 years as a business banker, international CFO and board member of corporate and family businesses, Alain's career spans large corporations, small businesses and not-for-profits. WHAT DOES TRUST MEAN TO ME?

“Trust is truly an alchemical energy. It grounds human relationships and instills them with a genuine and positive dynamic that naturally generates meaning and fulfillment. In the business world, trust literally transmutes into success and profitability. In the personal arena, trust makes life worth living. In a world overflowing with technology, we long for the high touch elixir of trust.”

LEAVE THE BARRIERS BEHIND

FEATURING:
ADAMUS SAINT-GERMAIN
GEOFFREY & LINDA HOPPE

According to Adamus, consciousness is the basis of all reality and energy, yet our consciousness has been limited during our arduous journey on Earth. The limitations are unnatural, potentially leading to anxiety and depression while taking away much of the joy of life. In Consciousness, Unleashed, Adamus will guide us through profound experiences to open the consciousness, creativity, intuition and imagination. This is a very experiential workshop. With channeled guidance from Adamus you'll break through your mental barriers and soar into uncharted levels of the I Am, all within the safe space. Consciousness, Unleashed: if you're looking to move stuck mental energies, and open to fresh creativity and inspiration from within.

We've chosen the sunny, tropical settings of Medellín, Colombia and Kos, Greece, for this experience. As Adamus has pointed out several times, water is the most important supporting element with any transformation as it has a way of assisting in cleansing toxins from the body and the consciousness. One does not need to even be in the water, but the mere proximity has great benefits. As does the light of the sun! It will be a rejuvenating holiday in itself, in the lush surroundings, to surrender into opening up your consciousness.

Consciousness Unleashed is ideal for anyone who wants to go beyond conformity and limitations. Come ready to break through!

There are no prerequisites for this event. Your registration includes access to the audio streaming files for 90 days after the event.

SURVEY RATINGS:

Based on surveys from our last Consciousness Unleashed event in Bled, Slovenia 2014; 77% of the workshop attendees rate the event as Life Changing, while another 18% rate their workshop Very Good.

- REVELATIONS...
- JUST A FEW OF THE TOPICS DISCUSSED IN PROGNOST™ 2015!

CHECK IT OUT!!

During this two-day event, presenters Jim Self, Dr. Douglas Davies, Patricia Aburdene and Adamus Saint-Germain give a clear picture of upcoming dynamics for 2015 and beyond. The potentials they share are sobering, exciting and far-reaching.

Joined by the energies of Sam/Tobias and the other ascended Masters, Adamus says that this is the year when the light of consciousness illuminates many, many things. Saying that the energies will be somewhat segmented into quarters throughout the year, he talks about what to watch for including things like survival issues, religious disillusionment, new revelations from unexpected sources, toxic releases and plenty of what he calls “quantum weirdness.”

Always filled with practical insight and advice, Jim Self offers very potent tools for managing life in the chaos. Comparing it to standing in the middle of a six-lane freeway, he offers very practical methods for stepping onto the “bridge overlooking the freeway” and thereby keeping one’s balance no matter the level of chaos that surrounds us. Rather than looking at time as linear, he says that time is an application that can be used to serve us in practical ways.

Patricia Aburdene gives an overview of trends in society, finance and industry. In fact she says that the most important commodity across the globe, rather than technology, information or money, will soon be creativity. She also gives some very practical advice for surviving and thriving in these coming months and years.

Dr. Douglas Davies explains and illustrates many of the astrological influences that will affect the planet and humanity in 2015. While these influences do not control our destiny, he reminds us that, like understanding ocean currents, it can be very helpful to understand the energy dynamics that are playing out in order to best navigate our way through them.

100 CRIMSON CIRCLE WORKSHOPS – WHAT A LIFE-CHANGING JOURNEY!

By Angelika Ruppert

HOW IT STARTED

In July 2006, after I had been following Tobias' Shouds and Workshops for four years, I attended the Sexual Energies School (SES) in Breckenridge, Colorado. When I later heard that the first SES teacher training was planned for the following November, I knew immediately that I had to be there and that I wanted to help spread this potent material. How fortunate that the year before I had already informed my business partners that I would no longer be available, for now I was open and free for a new professional path.

All the necessary prerequisites for being a Crimson Circle teacher were there. I had always loved dealing with technical equipment, I liked organizing, I spoke English and I was enthusiastic about the workshop material. So, I travelled again to the US in November for the teacher training, and held my first Sexual Energies School in Hamburg, Germany in February 2007.

THE BENEFITS

When I started teaching, the reason for my decision was to start working in an area that was more suitable for me in the current phase of my life. What I was not aware of initially, were the great benefits for my own development and evolution as a teacher of this work. After I had presented several workshops, I realized that with every "repetition" I got deeper into the information. I had new insights and understood the same information differently. When teaching a class, working with the students who bring their different personalities, ask questions and share their feelings and experiences, and going through the multiple levels of the workshop information, I still grow each and every time. Thank you all!

NO MORE DRAMA

The flow in the workshops has changed a lot over the years. I realized that the drama, which was often part of the process when I started teaching, is gone. The students are so open and willing to follow Tobias' and Adamus' information, and for the most part they just let it flow in, allowing the integration and the deep transformation. It's a great joy to see this development and I'm sure that the many, many workshops all around the globe to different cities and countries to bring this profound information.

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

If you want to become a teacher, don't hesitate to attend a teacher training and start offering these powerful workshops.

brought about this tremendous change in consciousness through every single attendee. We make a difference!

MY WORK EXPANDS

Over the last several years I also became a teacher for other Crimson Circle Advanced Studies classes. This means that students who attend one of my workshops now often register for others as well. Up to now I presented 100 workshops in 5 countries and 17 cities with more than 300 attendees from 14 different countries. What a journey!

I've always been happy to combine this beautiful work with my love to travel. So it's a great joy to be invited

If you want to deepen your experience with the material, it may feel more appropriate to just repeat the workshop and feel into it again from the relaxed perspective of a student, listening and experiencing once again the energy and information conveyed by Tobias or Adamus. Several of my students have repeated various workshops and were always very thankful for having gifted themselves a second or even a third time with this experience.

WEIRD HAPPENINGS

Over the years I have had some unusual experiences, closely connected to workshop venues. During a DreamWalker Ascension class, for example, while on my way to the workshop I read in the headlines of a newspaper: "Large fire in Munich." What I didn't know yet was that it was in the house of the seminar room owner. The owner's children had to be rescued through the window (fortunately without being harmed) but the seminar room in the backyard was not affected at all. Months later the owner told me what a blessing this fire actually had been for the whole family, that they had to throw out all of the old stuff and that it was a big cleansing in every way. It was a new start for them.

Some years later I rented a seminar room in a former monastery, now a huge seminar house in Linz, Austria. Some weeks before our workshop I heard in the news that major parts of the building burnt down because of a cable fire. Of course the workshop could not take place there – obviously another cleansing of old energies.

Less spectacular but also transforming was the plan to tear down a Protestant community center where I had given several workshops. Eventually wasn't done so radically but just renovated.

And finally, a funny experience from last year. On the second day of a DreamWalker Life School, while approaching the seminar house in the morning, we were slightly shocked to see that there were very noisy workers on the roof of the one-story building. Nobody had told me about them when I had rented the room. The workers assured us that they would not be noisy all throughout the day. So, I hoped and finally trusted that we wouldn't be disturbed too much. It was quiet for a long while, but just when the first Merabh began and Amir (Yoham) started drumming, the workers on the roof started hammering. "Oh no!" was my first thought. But then, while listening and feeling into it, I noticed that the hammering fit in perfectly with the drumming. It even added somehow to the rhythm of the music. After the session I asked the students how they experienced this intermezzo and they totally agreed with me: no disturbance at all. The magic of sound!

So, what happens during or before these workshops can be weird, strange and sometimes funny when old energies are cleared. But compared to the many workshops I presented, these odd things are very rare. Most of the changes, adjustments and rebalancing occur within.

MY OWN DEVELOPMENT

Over time my confidence has grown more and more. I am so very grateful that I now know about the "secrets of life," why I'm on Earth, how I came here (DreamWalker Birth), how I can leave the planet (DreamWalker Death), how I can leave the whole cycle of reincarnation (DreamWalker Ascension), how to live a sensual life, fully aware of what's going on in and around me (DreamWalker Life) and how to choose every day what I really love to do (New Energy Synchronize). The Sexual Energies School taught me how to realize when others are trying to feed off of me, but also when I am trying to feed off of them and how to handle it. My self-love and a deep appreciation for my wonderful body grew more and more and it, in return, remains strong and healthy.

Life is good and I am looking forward to the next 100 Crimson Circle workshops!

LIGHT INTEGRATION

For the Body of Consciousness

June 8-9

MORE INFO – LIGHT INTEGRATION

Geoffrey and Linda Hoppe team up with Jim Self (Mastering Alchemy) for an intense two-day workshop. In recent years both the Crimson Circle and Mastering Alchemy work have been focused on receiving the Light Body. For the first, these teachers now come together for the light body integration. This is an interactive workshop where attendees will learn about the attributes of the light body and have varying degrees of experiencing the physical body meeting the light body. This workshop is not recommended for persons currently taking antidepressant or anti-anxiety medications.

Registration opens February 11 – Check the Crimson Circle website for more information.

RE-CREATING THE PAST

We've all heard it by now, Adamus saying that the past isn't what we thought it was. But what does that really mean? It sounds good, the concept is intriguing, but what's the practical application? In the January Shoud Adamus talked again about changing our consciousness of the past.

"The consciousness you have of your past is very limited. It is generally placed in things like failure, struggle, hardship, suffering and traumas. You put these little particles of consciousness at the most difficult, depressing and dark points of your past. And there they sit, separated from your divine, your Free Self."

He talked about it a little more and then offered a gift:

"Through the music, I'm going to take a moment and convey to you what it's like when you let go of the limitations of the past and let it be free."

To be honest, at the time he was speaking I didn't really get much out of it. Sitting at the production desk I was focused on making sure the online viewers could see what was taking place. It was a couple days later that I listened again and finally understood.

But let me back up a little. In some ways, the last several months have been quite challenging for me. Why? Well, the thing about asking for change is that it happens, but hardly ever in the way we expect. Last September I had the privilege of speaking at the New Energy Celebration in Salzburg and then attending the subsequent Quantum Allowing event. It was an incredible time, full of intense integration and releasing. And yet, after all the excitement and amazement had died down and I got back home, it felt as if my life energy began to slip down a few notches.

In spite of my clear choice to allow my light body, in spite of my determination and desire for enlightenment, life seemed to get darker, not lighter. Productive days seemed elusive; I lost interest in a lot of things and my usually happy self found fewer and fewer reasons to smile. I was beginning to worry, even toying with that silly question – "What's wrong with me?" Somewhere inside I knew that all this darkness would eventually pass, but that didn't help the day-to-day doldrums or all the work and family responsibilities I was (somewhat unsuccessfully) trying to keep up with.

So what does a good Shaumbra do when something feels out of alignment but it's so subtle and ambiguous that you're not sure it's even real? Well, I just kept plugging along, hoping no one would notice. Then along came Adamus with his reminder and silent message during the Shoud. As I breathed and listened to the music, wondering if he would really tell me anything, not even sure what I should be listening for, realization finally broke through.

The thing about direct communication from Adamus is that it doesn't come in a string of words but more like a full-on burst of knowing. But I'll try to unravel it enough to share, for in that precious moment I saw what was really going on.

Like you, I came to Planet Earth a gazillion years ago, bright and eager to explore this amazing playground and find answers to the puzzle of energy and creation. My light was radiant, my energy was high and my enthusiasm knew no bounds. After orienting myself in this realm and figuring out how to inhabit biology, the next thing was to bring some kind of focus. And that's where things started getting misremembered.

Think of a light bulb and how it gives off beautiful light in every direction. Now think of a laser beam and some of the amazing things it can be used for. From delicate eye surgery to metal cutting, from catching speeders to scanning groceries, from cat toys to space weapons, the uses for laser beams are endless. And what is a laser? It is focused and coherent light; in other words, light that has been passed through various “experiences” (usually involving mirrors) that refine and coalesce it into a single beam.

What I “downloaded” from Adamus was a reminder, first of all, of my true original self – a radiant being of unbounded light and energy (sort of like a light bulb). I came to Earth to learn, among other things, how to focus and refine my radiance. Surrounding myself with “mirrors” I begin going through countless “compressing” and “focusing” experiences, most of which were somewhere between uncomfortable and quite awful. Forgetting the soul’s desire to refine, order and clarify my energy into something useful, my human perspective saw all those experiences as reasons to get smaller, turn down my light, and think I got it all wrong.

What a dismal perspective of the past! No wonder a cloud was hanging over me. My many human aspects had forgotten that all those “compressing” experiences – getting it ‘wrong,’ being betrayed and hurt, having my creations demolished and hope destroyed – were actually the focusing devices I called forth to help refine my light! As Adamus said, the consciousness of my past had been stuck in the struggle and heartache. But now came the illumination of what was really going on, and in that moment, the dark cloud all but evaporated. I reconnected with my soul’s perspective, felt the radiant angel I had been so long ago, took a deep breath and literally rewrote my past. Failures became triumphs, heartaches became fulfillment, blunders became perfection, and the ones who had hurt me became my collaborators.

All this knowing unfolded in the space of about one breath, but the consciousness is still expanding even now. The precious light of my Self has not only survived my time on Earth; it has become clear, focused and coherent. No longer scattered and barely aware of itself, my soul is wide-awake, coherent and eager to express. No longer weary and battle-worn, my human self feels re-energized and free, all because I brought a new consciousness to my past and allowed myself to see it with new awareness. And now, no matter what experience I bring to myself, I know without a doubt that it really is all about my en-light-enment. In fact, the funny thing is... when you bring consciousness to every old memory, feeling and experience of the past, you realize that everything has always been about your enlightenment!

I have to give one caveat though. Seeing your past from a new, more complete perspective can have unexpected repercussions. You may find that some of the most cherished ideas about yourself turn out to be nothing more than very stuck aspects and that your soul will go to great lengths to help you let them go. But that’s a story for another day...

THE CRIMSON CIRCLE CREED

The Crimson Circle acknowledges the inalienable sovereign spirit of the individual. We realize that humanity has entered a period of expanded consciousness. Many humans have a deep desire to experience themselves, free of limited beliefs imposed by their past or other people, and with the freedom to create as they choose, to love themselves and others, and to experience life in joyful abundance.

Crimson Circle is in service to those who are allowing their divine integration by making inspiring information easily accessible through venues, whether in the physical or virtual dimensions, where beings of kindred spirit can experience community and acceptance without formal rules or structures.

Our loving service is to provide ongoing guidance and support for humans around the world to experience and embody their mastery.

And so it is.

Grand Ascended Masters of Earth Room

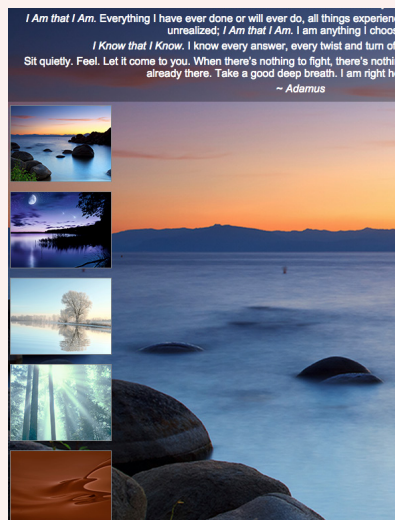

NEW!

At the recent ProGnost 2015 event, Adamus Saint-Germain announced that we can now connect with over 1500 Ascended Masters who have incarnated back on Earth since 2009. They are in physical bodies, mostly ranging from ages 2 – 6 years old, living in all corners of the world. Even though their bodies and minds are young, their souls are totally mature and integrated.

They have agreed to join us once a month in order to share energy, wisdom and radiance. Adamus suggested that we do this on the full moon each month because it's a good reminder that it's time to meet. Adamus says that we can create our own dimension, such as this special room, simply by bringing our energies together.

THE QUIET ROOM

From Shoud 5, December 31, 2014

"When you get confused about the fight within yourself – what to do, how to let it go, what the consequences are – come to this room. I will be here all the time.

No more fighting within yourself. Stop all these limitations and arguments and holding back and self-prescriptions and all the other weird things that you do. Let yourself be free.

When you have questions, when you have fears, when you wonder what's going to come next, come here knowing that you already know."

~ Adamus

CRIMSON CIRCLE TEACHER TRAINING

READY TO BE A CRIMSON CIRCLE TEACHER?

There can be many different reasons that someone decides to attend a Crimson Circle Advanced Studies teacher training. Some do it to deepen their own personal knowledge of the material, and some love sharing their insights with others and conducting workshops. Whatever your reason, training to become a Crimson Circle teacher will add a new dimension to your personal experience of the materials.

BASIC REQUIREMENTS

To teach any of the Crimson Circle classes, you must:

Pay for and attend the class you desire to teach

Pay for and attend Tobias' Sexual Energies School

Check the Teacher Training listings in your area, or contact Maija Leisso for more information

Note that for some Advanced Studies certifications (Aspectology, Journey of the Angels and DreamWalker Life) you must also be a certified Sexual Energies School teacher.

MESSAGE BOARD CLOSING

In its ongoing effort to keep our operations efficient and focused, the Crimson Circle has made the decision to close down Message Board. It will be set to read-only on February 15 and go offline on March 15, 2015. Our social media efforts will now be focused on Facebook, where you are welcome to participate in the many Shaumbra groups, Crimson Circle on Facebook, etc. We appreciate the insights, sharings and carings that have been posted over the many years the Message Board has been open as an online Shaumbra gathering place.

For those who may be interested, there is a new private message board on Yuku created and managed by a member of the old message board. To participate, you will need to create an account on yuku.com, then login to the "Shaumbie" board and introduce yourself in the Welcome forum.
